Development of NEW EcoLogo Standard for Hand Sanitizers

March 6, 2009

EcoLogo, North America's most respected and established multi-attribute environmental leadership standard and certification mark, is proud to announce the development of a new standard for hand sanitizers.

The EcoLogo Program is now conducting preliminary research in order to identify potential environmental impacts across the life cycle of the product and is currently preparing documents for public consultation.

Stakeholder contributions play a pivotal role in the EcoLogo standards development process. In developing environmental leadership standards, EcoLogo welcomes and actively encourages the participation of a wide variety of stakeholders familiar with the product group. This includes environmental NGOs and other not-for-profit organizations, academics and other scientific experts, manufacturers, industry associations, government representatives, and purchasing professionals.

For more information about the EcoLogo hand sanitizers standard or to participate in the development process, please contact Robin Duchesneau at rduchesneau@terrachoice.com or (613) 247-1900 ext. 239.

Your time and input in helping us to establish the most stringent environmental standards are very much appreciated.

Sincerely,

EcoLogo Program Management
